

HDPE CONDUIT COLOR MASTERBATCHES

COLOR PRODUCTS

The High Density Polyethylene (HDPE) Conduit industry depends on superior quality products to meet demanding environmental challenges during storage (prior to installation) and during extended outdoor exposure (post installation). RTP Company is the best choice for quality color masterbatches developed to meet or exceed the application needs. Each formulation has been optimized for use in conduit to ensure extrusion is easy and problem-free. These materials resist damage from UV exposure, help to prevent rapid stress crack propagation and/or premature rupture failures, and are Heavy Metal Compliant per RoHS directive (EU) 2015/863. In addition, our HDPE Conduit Color masterbatches deliver consistent color and quality from lot to lot at an affordable price. The following standard colors speed product development with quick sampling, and are available globally to simplify manufacturing in multiple or distant locations.
